Friends and Partners,

2020 was quite a year! Yet we have good news. Despite the challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic, Child Health Partnership has supported children and families to promote healthy development and family self-sufficiency. And we so appreciate that you were supporting our mission!

Through virtual visits, our nurses and family support specialists provided families with connections to vital community resources, critical information on health and safety issues raised by the pandemic, and assistance to receive essential emergency support for rent, utilities, and food. We also helped families resume well-child visits and focus on the development of their babies and young children.

We began serving new families virtually and performed safe deliveries of food and educational materials. We developed and distributed home learning kits that promote healthy growth and assist with essential screenings to identify developmental issues.

Through it all, we have stayed connected with families, providing a listening ear and expert support. We could only do this because of your generous belief that all children in our community should have a chance for healthy development and school readiness.

Whatever 2021 brings, we will partner with families in our community and will resume home visiting when safe to do so. Please stay in touch, our valuable friends and partners!

With warmest regards,

Elizabeth Willingham

MANY THINGS CHANGED IN 2020, YET SOME THINGS STAYED THE SAME...

While at-home family support looks different right now because of the COVID-19 pandemic, the power of connection and trusted relationships remains the same for families. The work of Child Health Partnership continues to help make our community a healthier and more equitable place for babies and young children.

Reliable health information and support to access essential services have been critical for local children this year. With your support, Child Health has been able to continue to serve our area's vulnerable families during these difficult times.

Our staff has moved to connecting with families through video visits, phone calls, and texts, and has delivered food, coats, and other supplies to families at home. We distributed more than 100 home learning kits focused on child development, and are delivering general health education kits and prenatal/post-partum resources to pregnant moms.

Child Health Partnership's home learning kits have been a great success. The transition to virtual visits created more opportunities for parents to take on the role of teacher and leader for the child. The child naturally becomes more focused on the parent in the room, while resources and support are still available from our nurses and family support specialists. Staff have witnessed high levels of engagement, fun, and more accurate parent-led screenings using these methods. Parents step up more quickly to direct an activity or to teach their child how to hold a scissors or use a crayon.

Our thanks to each of you for your partnership to achieve our mission to support nurturing homes and healthy children during this most challenging year.

*July 1, 2019-June 30, 2020

Last year, we supported the health and well-being of 490 children in 317 local families, including:

52

pregnant women

received prenatal case management. Families enrolled in Child Health Partnership are less likely to have low birthweight and preterm babies.

44

pregnant and/or parenting teens received support to have healthy babies, parent well, stay in school, set goals, and postpone having more children.

69

refugee families

Our staff offers cultural sensitivity and an understanding of the impact of trauma.

Partnership works!

After one year of work with Child Health Partnership, parents showed a 64% increase in parenting knowledge, and a 53% increase in positive parenting behaviors.

- 87% of children have a medical home for sick and prenatal care.
- 85% of children age 3-5 were enrolled in a preschool or child care.
- 78% of children were up-to-date on well-child care.
- 74% of children had a current health assessment.
- 68% of babies were breastfed.
- 54% of families had one or both parents employed.

Families enrolled for one year averaged 17 visits, in-person and virtual.

Staff provided 3,706 family support visits.

With at least two nurse and two parent educator visits, only 5% of enrolled moms had low birth weight babies (compared to 24% of moms who received fewer visits).

After one year in the program, the number of children who needed medical care and did not receive it was reduced by 33%, and the number of children who needed dental care but did not receive it was reduced by 25%. The number of mothers who needed medical care but did not receive it was reduced by 40%.

Your contributions make amazing things happen.
